REFLECTION

Fr Vincent Harvey, Priest of the Diocese of Portsmouth, shares his reflection on the scriptures for this Sunday:

Last Sunday (3rd) we read from Matthew's overview of Jesus's ministry in Galilee. Now we hear the first of Jesus's great discourses: the "Sermon on the Mount". This covers three chapters, the first is read in its entirety from the 4th to the 7th Sundays. The 4th and 5th Sundays therefore may be considered a sort of introduction to the Sermon on the Mount.

These eight blessings stand at the head of the Sermon on the Mount, pointing out eight ways in which we can welcome God into our lives. They are ways of living out God's blessing. The first and the last knit them all together with 'theirs is the kingdom of heaven'. Matthew concentrates on the spiritual attitudes required of the Christian: 'poor in spirit, hunger and thirst for justice'. Jesus came to proclaim the kingship of his Father, and these are ways of living it. For most of them there are gospel incidents in which Jesus sums them up, like the entry into Jerusalem on a donkey as the gentle king, or the love he shows in his welcome to sinners, or his bringing peace to those tortured by disease or contempt, or his purity of heart in his single-minded pre-occupation with his Father's will, and finally his acceptance of persecution for what he knew to be right. The beatitudes are, in a sense, a summary of the gospel, of the model of life proposed to the disciple who wants to imitate the Master, 'meek and humble' in heart.

Questions to ask:

1st Reading: Who are today's 'powerless', or 'remnants' in our faith communities? In our local area? In our society? How do we relate to them? Do we rate ourselves among them? Should we? In what way are we/should we be powerless?

2nd Reading: Do we still rely on our human wisdom, unlike the vast majority of the Christian world, who lack everything: possessions, basic needs, power, education? Where do we see the Church alive and vibrant? Should we be concerned with division or dissension? Is 'unity' important?

Gospel: For each of the Beatitudes in today's reading, do you know someone who exemplifies the attitudes expressed? Can one recognise a 'beatitude-living' person? How? What are the 'tell-tell signs? Are the beatitudes realistic? Which is your own favourite beatitude? Why? In what way are such people 'blessed' (whole, complete, God-reliant)?
