Fr. Tom writes...

What is Prayer?

People new to the Church sometimes presume that everyone else knows how to pray. Not just having all the responses, Creeds and prayers memorised for liturgy, but (including during those moments) how to actually, interiorly, pray to God. But, in fact, prayer is very personal, and many people, including monks and nuns, struggle at times with distraction and uncertainty when it comes to prayer. This should not surprise us, since – if one thinks about it – even to say a blessing over one's meal is to address the Eternal Creator of the universe. It can give one vertigo to think about it.

The 1992 Catechism of the Catholic Church, which is such a treasure in so many ways, and far more readable than many people imagine, opens its section on prayer with the humble question: What is prayer? It then quotes the wonderful definition St Therese of Lisieux offers in her autobiography: "For me, prayer is a surge of the heart; it is a simple look turned towards heaven, it is a cry of recognition and of love, embracing both trial and joy." There are, the catechism explains, four broad categories of prayer, one of which is 'Intercession', where we explicitly ask God to help us with a particular situation, be it by granting us courage to face it, or some miraculous change.

Please support the second collection this weekend. Never has this annual collection by parishes for the mother church of the diocese been more critical or needed. Please scan this QR code to donate online.
